whAt we need

Currently we are looking for a bilingual technical draftsman (FR+NL) to be part of our Hasselt design team. You will be responsible for converting the concept of design into technical drawings as well as preparing tender dossiers. To do this, you work closely together with our team of project managers and designers. As a link between the design process and the execution process, you play an important role in realising the project. Experience in the world of interior design is a surplus. In our workshop we build our own concepts ourselves, experience in working with a carpentry workshop is certainly useful.
